What assets am I able to transfer to ShareBuilder?

Review our online list of over 7,000 stocks and exchange-traded funds (ETFs) before completing your form to verify that your securities are transferable.

NOTE: Most assets, including options and select mutual funds, can be transferred. To transfer options, please contact Customer Service.

What if the account type and/or account holder names do not match?

Transfers can occur between like accounts (i.e. Individual to Individual, Roth IRA to Roth IRA). If you wish to transfer an account with a different account type, such as a Joint account to an Individual account you must also complete a Letter of Authorization.

NOTE: If using a Letter of Authorization, transfers between unlike accounts can only take place on Individual to Joint and Joint to Individual accounts.

How long will the account transfer take?

Once ShareBuilder receives your paperwork, a message will be posted to your account. Transfers between brokerages generally take between 3 to 4 weeks to be completed.

If there is a problem with your paperwork, another message will be posted to your account informing you of the problem and how to correct it.

What is the difference between a Notary seal and a Medallion signature guarantee?

A Medallion signature guarantee is a stamp provided by a financial institution to verify that a signature is valid. You can obtain a Medallion Signature Guarantee at a commercial bank, credit union, brokerage firm, savings association, or any financial institution who is an approved member.

A Notary seal is provided by a Notary Public, a person who is authorized by the government to verify written documents. You can usually find such a person either at a financial institution (such as a bank or credit union) or in your local phone directory.

How much does a transfer to ShareBuilder cost?

ShareBuilder does not charge for accounts being transferred from another brokerage firm.

NOTE: The brokerage firm you are transferring from may charge you a fee for transferring out.

What if I have more securities to list than there is space provided?

We have included an Additional Sheet for Transferring Securities form for you on page 3. You will only need to use this page if you are looking to transfer more than 5 securities to your ShareBuilder account.
